CHINESE REDS
WIN VICTORY
IN MANCHURIABIG GUNS HAMMER
STARVING CITY OF MUKDEN

BY JOHN RODERICK
Tsingtao, China, Feb. 23 (P)—Chinese Communist troops wheeled their big guns close enough to shake hungry, beleaguered Mukden today in their steady advance on the heart of Manchuria.

Military reports and eyewitness accounts showed the desperate plight of the big industrial city.

(Government sources in Peiping reported another grave setback—the loss of Faku, 45 miles north of Mukden. Its fall tightened the Communist blockade of Mukden and opened the way for Communist assaults from the north.)

The Rev. N. O. Dahlsten, Berrien Springs, Mich., just arrived from Mukden, said whole families there were committing suicide for lack of food. Month-old children were being fed millet—a rough Manchurian cereal.

No Way To Escape
The Seventh Day Adventist Missionary said Mukden was shaking to the bombardment of big guns. He said the Communists evidently will try to capture and hold Mukden.

Other reports told of Communist attacks on a government airbase only a mile and a half from Mukden. The Chinese air force halted all its flights to Mukden. The U. S. state department advised all dependents of its consular personnel to leave there at once.

Dr. Dahlsten, describing conditions in Mukden, said there was no way to escape except by airplane. Soldiers bar persons seeking to leave by rail.

Dr. Dahlsten said coal was not for sale in Mukden any longer. All commodities were almost out of reach. Flour, for instance, costs $18 for an eight-pound bag. Infrquent food shipments into the town are made under heavy guard. Two or three policemen are stationed at each Mukden street corner.

Yugoslav Refugee,
Thinking Too Much,
Gets Killed by Car

Detroit, Feb. 23 (P)—Dragoljub Stojadinovich, 49, a refugee Yugoslavian, was dead today, a cousin said, because "he was thinking too much."

Perhaps he was thinking of political persecution, added the cousin, since Stojadinovich was imprisoned when the Italians marched into Yugoslavia in 1940. He was released when the war ended.

However, he fled the country shortly afterward, blaming Communism. He came to the United States six weeks ago, leaving his wife and two daughters behind.

Her letters to him complained of distress and Communist oppression.

So he took his customary long walk Sunday, his cousin said, to ease his mind of his burden.

"He walked right out in front of the car," Stojadinovich said. "He was thinking too much. He probably never saw the car coming."

Father Struggles
With Son; Both Are Killed Under Train

New York, Feb. 23 (P)—Locked in struggle, a 60-year-old man and his son, 27, fell to death under a train from a midtown subway station platform last night.

Police quoted the son, Felix Lefkowsky, as saying before he died: "I pushed my father—he's no good—when he fell, he held on to me and I fell with him."

The father, Royal Lefkowsky, died instantly. The son's legs were mangled and were amputated before he died in a hospital.

The operator of the train, Magnus Waagenges, told police he saw the two men struggling on the platform as the train approached the 49th street—7th avenue station.

Passengers told of hearing father and son arguing at the edge of the platform, police said, and a moment before the plunge the son said "I'm going to die."

The cause of the fatal argument was not known. Police said the two men apparently lived together in Brooklyn.

GERMAN TRIAL
JUDGE BLASTED

Interview Given Chicago Tribune Brings Sharp Criticism

Frankfurt, Germany, Feb. 23 (P)—The United States' chief prosecutor in German war crimes trials was on record today with a strong and unprecedented criticism of the presiding judge in a trial just concluded.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor blasted Charles F. Wennerstrom yesterday for an interview the judge gave the Chicago Tribune Friday about the trial, ended the day before.

(A Nuernberg dispatch, copyrighted and published in this morning's Tribune, quoted the judge as saying the prosecution "failed to maintain objectivity aloof from vindictiveness, aloof from personal ambitions for convictions.")

Prosecutor Taylor's statement was issued by Army Public Relations before the interview was published. He said the interview was "subversive of the interests and policies of the United States" and would be used "by all the worst elements in Germany against the best."

Taylor of Idaho
May Be Running
Mate For Wallace

Washington, Feb. 23 (P)—Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) will announce tonight whether he will become Henry A. Wallace's running mate.

Taylor scheduled a broadcast (CBS) for 6:15 p. m., EST., to make known his decision.

The Idahoan has declined to offer any hint as to what his answer will be. Politicians are almost unanimous, however, in believing Taylor will say he is willing to run for vice president on Wallace's third party ticket.

Like Wallace, Taylor has been a frequent critic of the administration's foreign policy.

Russians Warned
To Be Prepared
For War Threats

London, Feb. 23 (P)—The Russian people got an official warning today that "the situation in which we are living compels us to be in constant fighting preparedness."

Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin minister of armed forces, told them so in an order of the day for today's celebration of the thirtieth birthday of the Soviet army and navy.

"So long as imperialism exists, there remains a danger of attack on our country," said his order, broadcast by the Moscow radio and distributed here last night by the Soviet News Agency Tass.

Flying Cosmic Ray
Photograph Balloon
Lost Over Peninsula

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 23 (P)—Authorities were alerted today to watch for a flying photograph mechanism designed to take cosmic ray pictures in the stratosphere.

The instrument was sent aloft over the weekend by University of Minnesota scientists hoping to get photographs of cosmic ray effects.

First inquiries, however, failed to establish its presence in this area. The mechanism was reported last seen over northwest Michigan, according to information in Minnesota.

It consisted of a 30-inch aluminum ball containing two cameras. The scientists sent it aloft Saturday from Little Falls, Minn. A huge plastic balloon supported it.

Dr. Frank Oppenheimer, of the University of Michigan, said the cameras were sent up to photograph the action of cosmic rays on a metal plate. The rays, which occur in great quantities in the stratosphere, were supposed to cause minor atomic explosions in the plate, he said.

Photographs of the splitting atoms may help show what holds the cores of the atoms together, he said. It is the rapid splitting of atoms in large quantities that gives atomic bombs their destructive power.

The sphere was expected to separate from the balloon by an automatic timing device and descend by parachute somewhere near Ironwood. It was last sighted 15 miles south of Ironwood.

REVOLT AWAITS
SPARK IN DIXIE

Governors In Fighting Mood, Call Democratic Chairman On Carpet

Washington, Feb. 23 (P)—The wallow behind the Dixie revolt appeared to hinge today on whether any of President Truman's Civil Rights program becomes law.

Angry Southern governors frankly proclaimed their "fighting mood" as they waited to call Democratic National Chairman McCarth on the carpet at a mid-afternoon session (2:30 p. m. EST) with newsmen on hand to witness the fireworks.

But two Dixie senators who are active in fanning the flames told a reporter privately that if Congress does nothing about such things as anti-lynch, anti-bill tax and anti-discrimination bills, the insurrection may never amount to much.

On the other hand, they agreed that if any of those things are written into law—and they look for that to happen—there will be "real trouble" for Mr. Truman in the South.

As an example, one of these senators said the legislature in his state undoubtedly will vote to remove the name of both the president and his running mate from the ballot. The voters then would cast their ballots for presidential electors who could vote as they choose.

One Killed by Car;
Trenary Man Hurt

Saginaw, Mich., Feb. 23 (P)—An automobile struck and killed Edwin Orava, 35, of (1255 Hubbard) Detroit, and injured a companion Sunday of the city limits early Sunday.

Twelve hours later Robert A. Kenel, 20, came to police headquarters to say his car had struck two men. He was held for investigation.

Orava and Elmer Aho, 22, of Trenary, were struck on M-81. Aho suffered bruises and lacerations and was treated at St. Mary's hospital.

Assistant Prosecutor Hazen R. Armstrong said Kenel would be charged at least with negligent homicide.

CZECH ANTI-RED
OFFICE SEIZED

Armed Guards Patrol Prague Streets In Government Crisis

Prague, Feb. 23 (P)—Security police armed with submachine guns and rifles took over today headquarters of the Czech National Socialist Party. Armed guards were placed before the offices of the Czech wireless, parliament and foreign offices in the first display of weapons in the government crisis.

The National Socialist Party headquarters were seized just before noon. The party is one of three seeking to withdraw from the coalition government headed by the Communist premier, Klement Gottwald.

Two hours after the seizure, the Czech press agency professed to know nothing of the action. The ministry of interior, controlled by the Communists, gave no explanation.

Dr. Zdenek Marjanko, an employee of the ministry of justice, was arrested earlier. Marjanko worked for the ministry headed by Prokop Drtina, a National Socialist and one of the 12 anti-Communist ministers who resigned Friday.

President Eduard Benes began new conferences in an effort to save the situation.

DETROIT GANG IS QUIZZED IN
MURDER PLOTPOLICE ROUND UP
TEN, CHECK ON BIG ROBBERY

Detroit, Feb. 23 (P)—Authorities indicated today they had abandoned a theory of a gangland murder plot in connection with their weekend roundup of ten men, among them several police characters.

At the same time, however, they investigated the source of two "expensive" fur jackets on the possibility, Inspector George Maher said, that they were loot in a $40,000 Pennsylvania robbery.

Maher said Philadelphia police were being asked for descriptions of women's clothing stolen last Tuesday from the home of Caleb F. Fox, jr., Philadelphia banker and sportsman.

Four masked men held up a house party at the Fox home in Abington, Pa., fashionable Philadelphia suburb, police here said. More details were sought from Philadelphia police.

Two Ohioans and eight Detroiters were seized in a weekend roundup that had the Willow Run airport as a starting point and bars and night clubs at the finish.

Underworld Tip Given
Maher said police acted on information.

House Blaze Kills
Six In One Family
At Cambridge, Mass.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 23 (P)—Six persons in one family—four of them children—perished early today when flames swept their 16-room house on fashionable Brewster street.

Police identified the dead as: H. Alan Gregg, 40, a Harvard graduate of 1935; his wife, Ann, 39, and their four children—Susan, 9; H. Alan, jr., 8; Peter, 3; and Thomas, 10 months old.

The only one to escape as flames raged through the rambling three-story wooden house was the family maid, Edna Roper, 29. She was injured critically, firemen said, when she apparently toppled through a second story window in trying to open it.

At least a dozen firemen and the department's fire chaplain—the Rev. Thomas Tierney—were overcome attempting to rescue the trapped family.

The whole inside of the house was a roaring inferno before the firemen got there, deputy chief Henry Kilfoyle said.

At Drinking Party;
Windsor Man Held

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 23 (P)—Robert Craig, 17, was held today after his Army buddy and longtime friend was stabbed to death early today at a drinking party in his two-room apartment.

The victim, William Solomon, 32, a Detroit auto worker, died instantly of a hunting knife wound in the heart.

Craig was charged with murder, his wife, Bertha, 25, was held as a material witness. They and Solomon were among seven persons attending the party.

Police advanced no motive for the killing but said it followed a quarrel.

Craig told officers that he and Solomon, an Indian, had been the best of friends for many years and served together in the Canadian army in Italy.

Only U. S. Military
Aid Can Save China,
Senator Taft Says

Detroit, Feb. 23 (P)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today called for American military help for China. He termed President Truman's $570,000,000 assistance plan a "relief program" which "will completely fail to solve the problem" of Communist pressure.

Taft said Secretary of State Marshall had been "unwilling" to draft the aid program sent to Congress last week. "The truth is," Taft said in an address at an economic club luncheon, "that Secretary Marshall does not like the Chinese and has no interest in their problems."

MIDWEST FEELS
ANOTHER CHILL

Only Moderate Sting Predicted For New Cold Wave

Chicago, Feb. 23 (P)—Seasonal or slightly higher temperatures prevailed over virtually the entire nation today.

The only exception was in the northeastern states where Caribou, Me., had the only sub-zero temperature of the day, three below. The eight above at Burlington, Vt., and seven at Binghamton, N. Y., were among the nation's low readings.

But in northern Montana, where the temperature ranged from 20 to 25, colder weather was moving in with prospects that it would over-spread the entire northern midwest by Wednesday morning.

W. M. Percy, federal forecaster, said the new cold front, however, appeared to be carrying only a moderate sting. Temperatures were expected to drop to 10-15 degrees after high readings of around 35 today and tomorrow in most of the plains states.

Blythe, Calif., had the highest temperature yesterday with 88 degrees. Key West, Fla., had 82 and Miami 79. From extreme west Texas through southern Arizona and southern New Mexico the mercury ranged from 70 to 80.

Australia's Offer
To Send Warship to Falklands Declined

London, Feb. 23 (P)—Prime Minister Attlee declined with thanks today Australia's offer to send a warship to the Falkland Islands, where British claims are disputed by Chile and the Argentine.

The British cruiser H. M. S. Nigeria is due to reach the Falklands from South Africa soon "and will visit the dependencies in company with (The Sloop) H. M. S. Snipe," the prime minister told the House of Commons.

"As things are, the government in the United Kingdom do not see any necessity to ask Australia to send a cruiser to the Falklands," he added.

Rural Home Blows

From Street After
Detroit Collision

Detroit, Feb. 23 (P)—The rarity of fuel oil was illustrated at Telegraph and Nine Mile roads Sunday.

for the Republican presidential nomination, said he considers the Far East as ultimately more important to peace than Europe.

Yet today in China, he continued, "we continue a policy which threatens to undo in the Far East everything the Marshall Plan (for European recovery) is trying to do in Western Europe."

Taft declared that "unless vigorous action is taken immediately, all Manchuria will be lost to Communism." And if that happens, he asked, "How can we hope that in future years we will be able to keep it out of Japan?"

Taft said the matter of relief and rehabilitation for China is open to question. But he added: "Certainly we can provide the Chinese government with the arms and ammunition necessary to resist Communist force in Manchuria as we have undertaken to resist them in Greece."

Taft said that during the early war years Americans were taught to regard Chiang Kai-shek as this country's greatest friend.

Now, he continued, "every commie sympathizer in the United States is damning Chiang Kai-shek, x x x he was the same man then with the same faults that he has now, but forces in the state department have encouraged the propaganda against him. Yet he is today the only hope to prevent the spread of Communism in China."

CARS STRANDED
AS ICE BREAKS

Picnic Party Rescued From Island Out In Lake Erie

Pelee Island, Ont., Feb. 23 (P)—Four cars remained stranded on north Bass Island today and one truck was on the bottom of Lake Erie as the result of an ill-fated winter picnic Sunday of 15 hardy Pelee islanders.

The party was rescued by plane from north Bass Island yesterday after an east wind blew the ice out and cut off its return home. Friends and relatives spent a futile afternoon trying to warn the group picnicking at Put-In-Bay, Ohio.

The wind had blown a 100-foot rift in the ice between here and north Bass Island by the time the 15 started back, riding across the ice in one truck and four cars.

The truck, driven by William Lamb, began to break through the ice, and Lamb and his three passengers managed to run to safety as the vehicle slid under the water.

The four cars turned back to North Bass and the group was taken home in a plane piloted by Milton Hirschberger.

The picnickers will probably be without their cars until spring when a scow can ferry them back to Pelee Island.

Foundation Shaky
For New Japanese
Coalition Cabinet

Tokyo, Feb. 23 (P)—Hitoshi Ashida, Japan's new prime minister, faces the prospect of forming a three-party coalition cabinet on a shaky foundation. The Diet confirmed his election today.

The arch-Conservative Liberal Party, which he helped form, announced it would refuse to participate and would remain in opposition. He also had troubles within his own Democratic party and with labor on the issue of how conservative his cabinet would be.

Political circles and newspapers already predict a short life for his government. Ashida was named to succeed Tetsu Katayama, Japan's first Socialist premier, who resigned.

New Women's Army
Limit Set at 13,000

Washington, Feb. 23 (P)—The House armed services committee decided today that 13,000 women would be enough for a peacetime Women's Army Corps.

ARABS WRECK
JEWISH SHOPS
AND 2 HOTELSVICTIMS DUG OUT
OF RUINS; OVER
88 INJURED

Jerusalem, Feb. 23. (P)—Jerusalem was virtually paralyzed today as gun-crazed Arabs, Britons and Jews patrolled a city made bitter and tense by yesterday's bombing of the Jewish sector, in which at least 52 persons died.

Rescue workers clawing at the wreckage of two hotels, three apartment houses and scores of shops along two blocks of Ben Yehuda street extricated nine more bodies today, boosting to 52 the number of dead. At least 88 injured have been dug from the debris. Haganah workers at the scene said there possibly were more victims in the rubble.

Arab leaders said their commandos set off the two truckloads of explosives which caused the blast but Jews seemed convinced that the British were somehow responsible. Nine British soldiers were killed in retaliatory gun fighting after the explosion and three Jews lost their lives. The death toll for the day thus stood at 64.

Streets were mined and a tripled guard stood duty at British security zone gates and at vital administrative and military buildings.

Jews worked feverishly to strengthen their own barbed wire and cement block barricades.

All Jewish sections of the city were ordered out of bounds to the military. Jews warned even British police to stay out unless accompanied by Jewish police.

The already crippled civil administration was rendered virtually non-existent as the city was blocked off into three zones of war.

Belief spread among Jews that the British had a hand in the explosion as the Jews claimed they did in the Palestine Post blast on Feb. 1.

Jewish rescue workers refused to use British firefighting and debris clearing apparatus rushed to the scene. One of the first British policemen to arrive after the blast was beaten. British correspondents were threatened.

Damage In Millions
Later in the day five British soldiers were killed and six injured when a mine shattered their army truck.

Two RAF troopers were fatally shot near the gate of the British security zone. A chaplain was wounded and his Army driver killed by gun-fire near the Jewish zone.

Tripping Jack-Pots
In Slot Machines
May Not Be Illegal

Chicago, Feb. 23 (P)—Police said today that Delbert Shinn's sure-fire method of hitting slot machine jack-pots is all right with them.

Shinn, 36, described his scheme to detectives who took him into custody at his south side home Saturday. Detective Timothy O'Connell said Shinn told him that by drilling a hole in the side of a slot machine it was easy to trip the jack-pot lever.

But, Shinn contended: "The slot machine is illegal. You can't take money illegally from something that is illegal."

O'Connell said Shinn readily admitted having tripped numerous jack-pots in Ohio. He was taken into custody after Sheriff Dwight Raudenbush of Mercer county, Ohio, requested a character investigation. The sheriff said, however, that Shinn was "not wanted" in Mercer county.

Shinn still was held without charge today but O'Connell said that unless the investigation turns up some evidence of a law violation he will be released.

STEEL MAKERS PANNED BY GOP

Industry Leaders Are Called On Carpet
For Price Boost

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Angry Republicans may rake big steel over the coals this week for boosting prices.

The Senate House Economic committee has arranged to question three "typical" steel executives at public hearings Thursday.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) said big steel, little steel and independents will be represented. He ruled out any circus atmosphere.

But there are signs that Taft himself feels the steel industry may have put the Republican Congress over a political barrel by boosting some prices after the lawmakers had voted to rely on voluntary action to keep down the cost of living.

Some Republicans think that steel has given President Truman and the Democrats a new argument for government controls. They blame big steel primarily for the price jump.

It came at a time when other commodities showed signs of leveling off. Hence the Republicans were beginning to breathe easier about facing the cost of living as an issue in November.

But steel people may have spoiled it all, the GOP members fear. Their product goes into so many manufactured items that a price boost is likely to be reflected all along the line.

It also adds fuel to organized labor's demands for wage increases. Those, in turn, threaten to keep the inflation cycle going.

CIO President Philip Murray served notice, meanwhile, that his unions will press their twin drive for (1) a new round of wage hikes and (2) an "effective anti-inflation program" in Congress.

Stambaugh Plans Parochial School

Iron River-Stambaugh — The Rev. Fr. Eugene T. Hennelly, pastor of St. Agnes' parish, will leave Tuesday for Marquette for a conference with the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of the Marquette diocese, on plans for a parochial school in Iron River and a new church in Stambaugh.

The Rev. Fr. Hennelly was scheduled to visit in Marquette yesterday, but Bishop Noa was called away and the conference was set for Tuesday. He said yesterday that the two building projects will be undertaken this year, and that the Catholic school will be opened next fall.

Decision will be reached at Marquette whether the school will have grades from the first through the fourth, or from the fifth through the eighth. For the time being, the Rev. Fr. Hennelly said, it will be only a four-grade institution.

The priest estimated that about 120 pupils will withdraw from the public schools to enroll in the parochial school.

On the matter of a new church in Stambaugh, which now is affiliated with St. Agnes' parish, the Rev. Fr. Hennelly said that he will submit two or three plans for the bishop's inspection.

Ferry Schedule Is Changed at Straits

Damage to the front propeller of the ice-breaker Sainte Marie, received recently while the boat was docking at Mackinaw City, has necessitated a change in state ferry schedules at the Straits of Mackinaw. The vessel owned by the Mackinaw Transportation Co., division of the South Shore railroad, is leased by the highway department for its winter ferry operations across the Straits.

The ice-breaker Chief Wawatam, also owned by the Mackinaw Transportation Co., will handle the state ferry business across the Straits until repairs are made on the Sainte Marie. It is expected this may take several weeks. Due to the fact the Chief Wawatam must also carry its railroad traffic across the Straits, it will be necessary to revise the state ferry winter schedule to allow for the Chief Wawatam making its regular railroad runs.

The following state ferry schedule will be carried out by the Chief Wawatam until the Sainte Marie is back in service at the Straits:

Leave Mackinaw City 7:15 a. m.; 9:45 a. m.; 1:30 p. m.; 4:30 p. m.; 8:45 p. m.; 11:00 p. m.

Leave St. Ignace, 6:00 a. m.; 8:30 a. m.; 12:00 noon; 3:00 p. m.; 7:30 p. m.; 10:00 p. m.

Rheumatic Fever Dangerous Threat To Child's Health

"Rheumatic fever is still the leading fatal disease among Michigan school children, and more than 50,000 Michigan adults who have survived the ailment are suffering handicaps resulting from it," Dr. J. K. Altland, Commissioner, Michigan Department of Health, said today.

"Better public understanding of rheumatic fever, and better utilization of new diagnosis and treatment centers in the state can save the lives of many children and the handicapping of many adults," Dr. Altland said.

While rheumatic fever is the most serious chronic illness beginning in childhood, many parents do not recognize the ailment in their own children. It is serious, difficult to diagnose and hard to treat.

Although the disease has been recognized since Hippocrates' time, 400 years before Christ, the medical profession still does not know its exact cause, nor a preventive for it, nor a special treatment for it. The disease is probably not communicable. It often follows streptococcus infections such as scarlet fever, tonsillitis, or a "bad cold," and it is more likely to occur among children whose families have a history of rheumatic fever.

The germ or virus which causes the ailment attacks the heart valves and muscles, and leaves scars which impair the function of the heart throughout life. One attack of the disease does not immunize the victim against another attack, but instead, makes him more likely to suffer a second or recurring attacks.

Rheumatic fever usually starts in early childhood, between the age of five and fourteen years. It

DeGrand Makes Forced Landing

Menominee, Mich. — A forced landing of an Ercoeur airplane of M. & M. Aviation company on a county road just south of the Elmwood farm on Highway 577, five miles north of Menominee, was effected without mishap by M. & M. Instructor Gerald DeGrand Friday about 2 p. m.

DeGrand was on a routine training flight with Dennis Collard, a commercial student at the flying school, and the plane was in a loop maneuver when the gasoline tank fount became stuck and cut off the fuel supply of the engine.

Before the plane could be brought to a safe landing with a dead stick, he had sufficient altitude to reach the side road, where he had observed no traffic. One of the wing tips was scratched by brush at the side of the road, but the plane was otherwise undamaged.

The plane was tied down at the Elmwood farm overnight and this morning Clarence Kass, chief pilot at M. & M., made an observation flight to select a suitable field for a takeoff and planned to fly the plane back to the airport later today.

Oil Tankers Will Open Season Early

Cleveland (AP) — Some Great Lakes oil tankers are expected to open the spring shipping season about March 15, steamship officials indicated yesterday.

Officials of Cleveland Tankers, Inc., said a crew would board the firm's tanker, Meteor, at Manitowish, Wis., March 1. The ship probably will begin sailing two weeks later, they added.

The steamer Edgewater, former Ford Motor Co. ship converted into a tanker by the Cleveland company last summer, also will begin operations on March 15, the spokesmen added.

Oil tankers traditionally are the first Great Lakes ships to open their season.

Young Couple Off To Circle Globe In 39-Foot Ketch

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—A young couple whose hobby is sailing boarded their 39-foot ketch along with their four-year-old son Saturday and prepared to leave on a "round-the-world voyage" which they estimated may take three years.

They are John M. Townsend, an aeronautical engineer, and his attractive wife. The youngster is Roger, and his parents figure he'll be at least seven when he gets home.

The Townsends sailed from Balboa harbor, where they have spent more than a year readying the boat for the voyage.

Townsend said he and his little family feel the need of relaxation, and can't figure on a better way of getting it. Mrs. Townsend also is an accomplished sailor.

The boat is equipped with an auxiliary engine, but Townsend said he plans to accomplish practically all the voyage under sail.

Their first ports of destination are Acapulco and Panama, then they'll veer toward the south seas and Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob VanAcher of Flat Rock, former St. Nicholas residents, are the parents of a baby girl born Tuesday, Feb. 17, at the Gladstone Cradle home. This is their first child. Mr. VanAcher is a sister of Mrs. Leo Plimpton.

Jule VanDamme was dismissed Wednesday from St. Francis hospital where he was a patient for several days, recovering from injuries he received in an auto accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Elfridge Newhouse of Flat Rock visited Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Constant Cafmeyer, and with other friends.

City Budget Half Million at Sault

Sault Ste. Marie — Sault Ste. Marie's 1948 record budget of $544,000 was adopted Wednesday night by the city commission.

The budget is about $23,000 greater than the one presented at the public hearing on Feb. 2, and this reflects $15,000 additional city employee salary increases asked by the citizens present at the session, plus $8,000 earmarked for additional fire fighting equipment.

The "promotion" item, ordinarily earmarked for expanding Chamber of Commerce activities, was unbudgeted. It remains $1,000 although the Chamber asked $15,000 in an effort to remove a financial straightjacket which is limiting its activities to an essential minimum.

BIG 3 DEBATES GERMAN FUTURE

Russia Is Absent From London Conference
For First Time

BY ALEX H. SINGLETON

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—The United States, Great Britain and France begin a conference today on western Germany's future. It is the first formal diplomatic acknowledgment that the world has divided into two parts.

For the first time, Russia is absent from official talks on the future of the countries—Germany, Italy and Japan—that gambled their military powers upon world conquest and lost. In her empty chair is piled a batch of reasons:

(1) Inability of the Big Four to get together on a peace treaty for Germany at their foreign ministers' council meeting which ended here in December.

(2) U. S. determination to give western Germany a big part in the Marshall Plan for European economic recovery.

(3) A plain-spoken Soviet accusation that the Marshall Plan is part of an "imperialistic" American plan to "enslave Europe."

(4) Formation of the Communist International Information Bureau (Cominform)—eastern European spokesmen for Communist-dominated countries—to coordinate an attack upon western democracies.

BEAN SPEAKS AT INSTITUTE

City Manager System Of Government Explained

Iron Mountain, Mich.—"If the manager-form of government in a municipality is to be successful, it must be recognized that final authority rests in the city council," George E. Bean, city manager of Pontiac, Mich., emphasized in his talk before the group on city government at a session of the Dickinson County Community Institute.

"There is, of course, the dual relationship of the city manager to the residents of the community, and the manager to the council—but the council must be the final authority. Council-manager form of government can be successful in no other way. The manager, in a strict sense, is part of the working staff, and a sort of technical advisor to the council."

By Education
"How can it be achieved?" he asked. "How can you educate the community to the advantages of this form of government? Well, within my experience, it was done largely through the young people in the schools. We organized a council-manager form of government among the students. When, after long preparation and rehearsal, we had perfected the plan—based on objectives on actual goals for the municipality—we asked permission to take over the city government for one day."

"The students went into the city departments; they took over the active management for a day; they submitted their recommendations and they 'sold' the plan not only to the city officials, but to residents of the community. And strangely enough, some of their recommendations later became actualities in that community—under the council-manager form of government."

Turning, then, to the problems of tax structure within the municipality, Manager Bean reviewed the inequalities which creep into the tax system, unless values are reviewed and adjusted at regular intervals. "Over a long period in our history we have gone from the system of taxing property on its true value to taxing people on their ability to pay, and that is basically wrong and unjust. Unless the community reviews its tax structure periodically—perhaps once every 10 years, at the least—these inequalities are bound to creep into the system, with the result that one property-owning group in the community is paying the greater part of the tax for the other group."

FOX TRAPPER SUCCESSFUL—Emil Myrvall, farmer of near Wilson, stands beside a pile of fox and coyote pelts, the result of his sparetime trapping so far this winter. Since Oct. 11, when the $5 state bounty on fox went into effect, Myrvall has trapped 59 fox and 13 coyotes in the vicinity of his farm. His trapping has brought him about $500 in bounties alone, plus the sale of the pelts.

Some Difficulties
The speaker pointed out some of the difficulties in equalization of taxes, resulting from current, inflated values. He asked: "What do you do with a house that was built, some years ago, for $1,000 or $2,000 and is now offered for sale at anywhere from $6,000 to $9,000? What is its true value? How shall it be assessed?"

"This, of course, is a municipal and a county problem, and there are several ways to go about it, but the process is somewhat complex. You can equalize values in your city, but how about the rest of the county? If you raise your own values, by equalization, and another city in the same county refuses to do so, you pay a proportionately larger share of the county tax, and you are in a disadvantageous position."

"One remedy, of course, is the revaluation of all property in the county, and this may be done by one of two methods—by the state tax commission or by a private appraisal company. You can request the state tax commission to do it—and it must do it if you have made a provable showing of necessity. In this instance, the state pays the larger share of the private appraiser, and the county pays for all of it. There are arguments for both plans, and here again it is a county problem."

IRONWOOD HAS WELL PROBLEM

Shortage Of Water Is Threatening U. P. Community

Ironwood, Mich.—Water supply trouble is cropping up in Ironwood again.

City Manager Henry L. Levens said there was no immediate threat of a shortage but added "it might be wise for consumers to use water sparingly" as a precaution against an emergency.

Levens noted that the supply in the Mt. Zion reservoir had dwindled from 13 feet a week ago to a measurement Friday of three feet-10 inches.

"We're not in dire straits," he said, "but want to prevent a recurrence of the shortage we were confronted with several weeks ago."

The city manager said the blame for the drop in the reserve supply was "non-production of the old well systems."

Only two of the four wells that comprise the supply setup are producing, including the new well tapped in during the January emergency. Two of the older groups have to be "restarted" at intermittent periods to regain enough "head" to draw water from them.

Lowered pumping pressure against the height of the Mt. Zion reservoir makes it impossible to build up a reserve. However, water can be transmitted directly into the distribution lines.

In the event of an emergency, the city has the approval of the state health department to revert to drawing water from Spring creek again, Levens said.

He said there was no way of gauging the new well to determine whether it is producing its capacity. No provisions were made home at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Services will be held at the home Wednesday at 2 p. m., with Rev. Bertil A. Friberg of Gladstone officiating, and burial will be in Rapid River cemetery.

BARK RIVER SPEAKER—Joseph F. Gucky, Stephenson, Lions' district governor, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Bark River Lions Tuesday evening. Mr. Gucky, incidentally, organized the Bark River club and was its first King Lion. The meeting will be held at the Bark River school, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Charles Wells Dies in Detroit

Charles Wells, of Detroit, a nephew of William Wells, of 326 South 10th street, died Saturday night, at his home, Mr. Wells was notified Sunday. Funeral services will be held in Detroit Wednesday morning and burial will be made there. Mr. Wells had visited here at the home of his uncle each summer and was known to many Escanaba residents.

for measuring the output at the time it was tapped because of the rush in completing the connection to alleviate the shortage.

It has been pointed out that other communities, as well as Ironwood, are faced with the same supply difficulties.

Much of the blame is placed on the fact that the lack of snow this winter has driven frost deep into the ground, preventing seepage of surface water into underground veins that supply the wells.

URGES SUPPORT OF ROAD STUDY

Michigan Highway Needs Told By Cuthbert At Iron Mountain

If the state of Michigan is to have good roads the residents of the state should do all in their power to push the road improvement program as outlined by the Good Roads Federation in its report on "Highway Needs in Michigan," O. A. Cuthbert, Lansing, told the U. P. Road Builders' association at its meeting Saturday in Iron Mountain.

Cuthbert is chairman of the Good Roads Federation speakers' bureau, and engineer-director of the County Roads Association of Michigan. About 90 county road commissioners, engineers and others interested in highways above the Straits attended the luncheon meeting at the Dickinson hotel.

Other speakers were State Senator Joseph Cloon of Wakefield,

Rep. Victor Knox of Sault Ste. Marie, speaker of the house of representatives; and F. A. Flodin, president of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Chamber of Commerce. "Highway Needs of Michigan," an engineering analysis, presents the results of an 18-month study of state highway, city street and county roads needs; reveals the importance of these systems, how their construction and maintenance is financed; and makes certain recommendations to bring about required improvements.

Reading from the report, Cuthbert pointed out that, although the Upper Peninsula under a law adopted by the Michigan legislature in 1932 is entitled to 25 percent of all highway expenditures, its actual need under the program is only 8.6 percent.

"It is evident that in this case as well as in that of motor vehicle revenues, distribution should be guided, not by an arbitrary formula, but by existing needs," the report advises.

Among those attending the meeting from Delta county, one of the best represented of any in the Upper Peninsula, were the following:

Delta County Road Commissioners Harry Greene, Henry

Wyllie, Hilding Norstrom; Superintendent-Engineer J. T. Sharp-tenstein and his assistant, Clarence Rose; other road commission employees George Peterson, Algot Gustafson, William Karas; Supervisor Harold Gustafson, chairman of the county board, and Supervisor Omer Tanguay, chairman of the board's roads and bridges committee; Rep. Roy Jensen, Delta representative in the state legislature; A. A. Anderson, state highway engineer in the Upper Peninsula, and others.

Millions Just For Fun

THE BUDGET BUREAU deserves the support of the general public in its efforts to correct a flagrant abuse of the GI bill of rights by government payments of purely hobby courses, such as dancing, flying, music, photography, horsemanship, etc., where the student obviously has no intention of pursuing such vocations.

Correction apparently requires congressional action to weed out hobby courses from the qualified list. If so, Congress should act on the matter promptly as a means of saving the American taxpayers several hundred million dollars annually.

The educational grants of the GI bill were intended to help veterans acquire an education that was denied them when they were serving in the armed forces. The theory behind the act expresses the people's desire to help the war veterans attain vocational and educational training that would fit them for gainful occupations. It certainly never was a desire to pay hundreds of millions of dollars merely to have the veterans pursue a hobby or to have a good time recreationally at government expense.

The matter was first brought out in the open several weeks ago by President Truman in his budget measure to Congress. The budget director picked it up at that point and has conducted a survey of the situation.

The report reveals, for instance, that more than 90% of all GI flight training serves no occupational purpose and has no appreciable value for national defense. In other words, the government is spending $257,000,000 a year, of which at least 90% is for purely recreational purposes to provide war veterans with the thrill of flying.

Virtually all of the students taking training in ballroom dancing have no desire at all to become professional dancers. They are taking the courses solely for social purposes.

A similar situation exists in the photography courses, which are being taken by the students primarily to develop a hobby with little or no thought to making photography a vocation. As a matter of fact, the courses are set up for recreational purposes primarily. If this were not true, there obviously would not be 280 veterans taking a photography course in a single community where job opportunities in photography are non-existent. Such a situation was disclosed in the budget bureau's report.

Lurking Dangers In New Look

AN AUTOMOBILE CLUB executive has taken a long look at the New Look and, professionally speaking, has found it bad. They interfere with operation of the car's pedals, and are likely to trip up a pedestrian if she has to scoot out of the path of an oncoming vehicle.

It may be that the New Look also promotes safer city driving by diverting fewer motorists' glances from the street ahead. But, by and large, we'd say that the auto clubman makes sense—at least as much sense as the new fashion.

CIO Tests Labor Law

AFTER A LOT of shouting and breast-beating, the Taft-Hartley law is about to be put to a sensible test. The CIO and its president, Philip Murray, are going to appear as guinea pigs in a test of one of its provisions. The proceedings promise to be orderly and unemotional.

Everyone has reason to rejoice at this turn of events. For the fearful to-do about this new labor law has aggravated the uneasy postwar relations of unions with government and industry. Labor leaders, stung by a curb on their broad powers granted by the Wagner Act, launched a generalized and hysterical attack on the law as a whole.

A few months of actual operation have shown that union labor is not being crucified by the new restrictions. They have shown that the charges of "slavery" and "the beginning of fascism are unfounded and unfair. Unions have bargained, won benefits and gone on strike, just as before.

Yet the law is neither perfect nor entirely clear. Its co-sponsor, Senator Taft, admits this. The court test, which will probably wind up in the Supreme Court, should clarify one of its controversial provisions.

The law's authors apparently meant, in the provision under question, to stop the spending of union dues in support of a political stand which all the duespayers might not agree with. Specifically, the provisions seemed directed at the taking of editorial stands for or against a candidate in union publications which were not sold directly to members but were financed out of a general dues fund.

But this section of the law is worded in such a way as to prohibit a bank or "any corporation whatsoever," as well as any labor organization, from making a contribution or expenditure in connection with a political election. This, the CIO claims, might be interpreted as barring any publication owned by a corporation from taking an editorial stand in an election.

Obviously this was not the legislators' intent. But interpretation as well as intent enter into a law's application. So the CIO deliberately violated the law by urging its members, through the CIO News, to support a certain candidate in a congressional election.

In a statement regarding this move, Mr. Murray reaffirmed his principle of respect "for the law of the land." He made it clear that he was not acting "in a spirit of defiance and bitterness."

The process of law by which Mr. Murray's act is to be tested is proof enough of the extravagance of earlier attacks on the Taft-Hartley Law. For that law's application is still subject to the usual checks upon its constitutionality. There is no reason to talk of slavery and fascism when labor has access to a fair hearing of all its grievances.

We hope the calm atmosphere in which the first real test of the law has been launched will remain. Each provision that labor spokesmen have rallied against may be tested in the same manner. It will take time, but it will be done in a sane, orderly, democratic way. And it can and should be done without any further campaigns of exaggeration, emotionalism and incitement to vengeance.

Fight Against TB

A STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT mobile X-ray unit will operate in Escanaba from Feb. 23 to March 5, providing an opportunity for every resident of the community over the age of 12 to get a free examination for tuberculosis.

Chest X-rays are the only known means by which tuberculosis can be discovered in its early stages. The insidiousness of the disease is such that physical symptoms frequently are not evidenced until the infection is well advanced. In such cases treatment is more difficult and requires a much longer period of time. On the other hand early discovery of tuberculosis materially improves the probability of early recovery.

Because tuberculosis is a contagious disease, it is imperative to detect active cases as soon as possible and to isolate them, both as a protection for the patients and for the general public.

Granting that the odds are only one in 500 that the average individual is a tuberculosis victim, it is unwise to adopt an attitude of complacency towards this vicious killer. Plan now to have an X-ray examination when the mobile unit is in Delta county.

The way some people let their children run wild you'd think they had a million of them.

It does little good to talk about your cold, but a heap of good when you keep it to yourself.

It's a wonder reformers don't get disgusted and let the world go where they think it will.

WORDS TO WATCH

Clifton Fadiman, Information Please: "... according to a royal ED-ict." Fadiman's pronunciation of the word edict, "a public notice or command by a sovereign," apparently results from trying to give the word a Latinized twist. But "ED-ict" (the first syllable rhyming with "bed, led"), has no sanction whatever, either in usage or by the dictionaries. There was a time, centuries ago, when edict was accepted on the second syllable; but it has long been obsolete. Accent the first syllable, and give the "e" the long sound, thus: EE-dict.

Overheard on a radio commentary: "... occasional raids by small bands of pah-ti-ZANS." The word partisan, "a member of a detached or irregular troop," was used correctly. But the pronunciation "pah-ti-ZAN," with the accent on the third syllable, is a Britishism that is not good usage in the United States. Be sure to accent the first syllable and obscure the "a" in the third syllable, thus: PAIR-ti-zn.

Overheard in a "recipe" program: "... and include a dish of young onions and redishes." The pronunciation "redish" for radish is frequently heard, and it seems likely that it is the result of associating the radish with its bright red skin. The first syllable, of course, should rhyme with "bad, lad" thus: RAD-ish.

Overheard in a dress shop: "And note how the REV-erz forms the lapels." The word is revers, "part of a garment turned back to show the lining or facing." The word revers is from the French, and it is both singular and plural. The French pronunciation is: ruh-VAIR, and this is sometimes heard in English. However, dictionary consensus prefers: ruh-VAR, the second syllable rhyming with "dear, fear." The "s" is silent.

Until recently, the verb traverse "to

Washington.—One of the major contributions of the present administration has been the organization on a peacetime basis of the vast atomic energy project.

Childs

It could not have happened, of course, without cooperation from Capitol Hill. In 1946 Sen. Brian McMahon of Connecticut pioneered the bill to create a civilian atomic energy commission.

A year ago, when the names of the five commissioners were up for confirmation, a smear campaign with overtones of hysteria was unleashed. This originated with those who had tried to prevent civilian authority from taking over and it was aimed particularly at Chairman David Lilienthal.

Form Harmonious Team

Again Vandenberg stood firm. So did Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, who, as chairman of the Senate committee considering the appointments, insisted on getting the facts. Since then, as chairman of the joint Senate-House committee supervising the commission, Hickenlooper has been a working partner in the project that means so much for the future of the world. He recently completed a tour of inspection that took him to the Pacific coast and back.

In spite of their differing backgrounds, the five commissioners have formed a remarkably harmonious team. This was on whether the commission should make available to foreign government radio isotopes, a byproduct of bombmaking invaluable for research in medicine. The vote, following an always friendly debate, was 4 to 1 in favor of letting other nations have the isotopes.

The only scientist member of the commission is Robert F. Gacher who played a part in developing atomic fission. Gacher has proved one of the most useful commissioners, impressing congressmen with his practicality as well as with his scientific grasp of the new revolutionary forces.

Gacher will probably be the only commissioner to fly to the AEC-Navy proving ground on Eniwetok atoll in the far Pacific for new and highly secret tests this summer.

On Aug. 1 the terms of the five commissioners expire. If they were all to be replaced, progress and continuity would undoubtedly suffer. The unsettling effect would be felt a long way down the line.

This poses a ticklish problem in an election year. It involves the success of a two-billion-dollar undertaking that belongs to you and me. The basic security of the nation may depend on continuing progress in atomic development.

The law provides, after the two-year period ending Aug. 1, the commissioners shall be named for separate terms—one for one year, one for two years, one for three years, one for four years, and one for five years. If President Truman should decide to reappoint all the commissioners willing to accept reappointment, he might do it in two ways.

GEN. GROVES RESIGNS

He could send the names to the Senate two or three months before the Aug. 1 deadline. Then they could be considered before Congress quits for the election campaign. Or they could be sent up after Congress leaves, as recess appointments. The commissioners could serve in the interval, and then, if a Republican president came in, he could decide what he wanted to do.

One significant change has occurred. Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves a member of the military liaison committee, is retiring to become director of research for a large corporation. It is no secret that Groves did not get on with the commission. Perhaps it was too much to expect that any man who had exercised far-flung authority as the war-time boss of the atomic project could adjust to the new approach.

There have been other frictions. They were inevitable with so much pioneering to be done.

It is hard for most of us to remember and to realize what atomic energy means. The other day the mayors of 250 cities meeting in New York got a brand new shock when Maj. Gen. Harold R. Bull, deputy chief of the Army general staff, pulled out exactly what would happen if a single atomic bomb fell on the center of a city.

Mankind stands on a knife edge between a new heaven and a new hell in that uncomfortable position, gloomy forebodings come crowding in. Therefore it is good to know that a hopeful beginning has been made toward encompassing atomic energy within our political system. It is reason to hope that some day, in spite of current fears and hostilities, all nations may join to control this force for the good of all men.

pass across, over, or through." was accented on the first syllable by the dictionaries, thus: TRAV-ers. However, most Americans accent the second syllable. The newer dictionaries, therefore, are listing the alternative pronunciation: truh-VERSS, which is well established in standard American speech.

'Do You Mind if I Kibitz a Little?'

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

COMMENTARY — There are twenty-six World War II veterans' families living in the FPHA-Escanaba veterans housing units.

Not one of them is satisfied either with the housing or the heating. They have let their dissatisfaction be known on several occasions and efforts are being made by the city to correct the situation so far as possible.

Natural question might be: Why do these 26 families, since they are dissatisfied, stay in those cold tin houses? The answer is that all, or most of them, are unable to find housing elsewhere.

The situation is due to the housing shortage. There are not enough houses to accommodate all of the residents of Escanaba, although the situation is better this year than last, and can be expected to improve materially after another season of home construction.

At the present time, however, the veterans are sticking close to their tin houses. You see the Escanaba Housing Commission has a list of 10 or more veterans' families who are just waiting a chance to move in when a vacancy occurs.

NO CHILDREN—It is unfortunate that so many young married people have children. That makes it difficult for them to rent the more desirable places.

Ed Atwell, a resident at the veterans' housing project, was one of the spokesmen for the veterans at a recent meeting of the Escanaba city council.

"I'd like to move," said Atwell. "So would most of the others. But when we have children it's the same old story. Why, I've looked at about twenty-five places for rent, and the first thing they ask is if we have children. When I say yes, they say no."

STRANGE BUT TRUE —The decision of some landlords not to rent to families with children is not new, and it is not confined to war veterans. It was going on long before World War II, in Escanaba as well as other cities.

Our own family had an experience with a landlord of that stripe. Under the necessity of moving, we finally found a house for rent. That was back in the days when there were such things. The owner of the house set a fairly high rental on the place because it had a nice yard—a nice yard where we thought our children might play. When we told the house owner that we had two children he reacted as if we had told him we were harboring a couple of man-killing tigers. Sorry, he said, no children.

Still house hunting a few weeks later we drove past the place where the landlord did not permit tenants with children. Two large dogs were barking themselves on the lawn, and the new tenant was building an enclosure for the dogs and rigging up a wire line for them to run on.

THERE IS NEED —Housing conditions in Escanaba are not "desperate," it is true. Yet the acute shortage is sufficiently acute to make it necessary for many young couples with children to live under undesirable and inadequate conditions. This applies to families of non-veterans as well as veterans.

A family of children living in a small second floor apartment on a busy street is an invitation to mischief. The children have no other place to play in their neigh-

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Hildings Swanson are the parents of a son born Feb. 21 at St. Francis hospital.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Peterson have left for a vacation visit with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Groos in Miami, Fla.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carlson are the parents of a son born Feb. 15 at Newberry.

Gladstone—Mrs. Axel Carlson and son Lowell have returned from a several weeks visit in Chicago.

Twenty Years Ago

Park River — Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dahl of Park River are the parents of a daughter born at St. Francis hospital.

Stephenson—Huddling under a piece of tar paper, his clothes ragged and tattered, and apparently with nothing to eat but a quart of Navy beans, an unidentified man was found in a cave near here by Deputy Sheriff Archie Paul, of Crivitz. The man had $80 on his person and is believed demented.

Manistique—Charles Lundvall is leaving today for Plymouth, Mich., for an extended visit with his daughter, Mrs. Glen Denwick.

Gladstone—Mrs. William Corlan, of Milwaukee, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Alton.

Manistique—Mrs. John Courtney and Mrs. John Neault, of Marquette, were guests this week of their daughters, the Misses Irene Courtney and Frances Neault, faculty members of Manistique public schools.

PLAYGROUNDS —In Escanaba there are not enough neighborhood playgrounds with play equipment. School playgrounds are used for ball games during the summertime vacation, yet there is no adult supervision and often there is rowdiness and excessive roughness. The school playgrounds are almost altogether without play equipment, and so are most of the city-owned playgrounds where activities are supervised by the recreation department.

THEY GO TOGETHER —The subject of adequate playgrounds may seem to have no connection with the housing shortage. Actually they make both problems more serious.

The crowding of our larger population into fewer and smaller houses and apartments make the necessity for adequate playgrounds for the children of paramount importance.

Today, with the rising birth-rate there are more children per block in Escanaba than in many years. There are also more adults. Some of the adults do not have children, and they do not want children either in their homes or on their grounds. There is almost constant friction, therefore, as the children play up and down the streets and in the neighbors' yards. It is not conducive to happiness either on the part of the child or the adult.

In one way the veterans and their families crowded into the 26 units at the vets' housing project are fortunate. Behind the housing project is an open field and a pine grove where the children could play. By cooperative agreement the veterans might provide some play equipment for their broods next summer, and the wives could take turns watching over them.

A similar arrangement would be almost impossible in any other area in the city.

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—"The world doesn't have any future," said the young man, "because there isn't any common sense left in the world."

This is a depressing view Tom takes after a hard day at the office. And this had been a hard day.

Frances and I had come over to baby-sit for him and his wife so they could take in a movie. While his wife was dressing, Tom talked about the sad plight of humanity. "There isn't anything you can really look forward to," he said. "Nothing is stable anymore and nothing's sure."

Tom is like millions of other men his age who came back from the war with a premature armor of pessimism. It is a kind of "oh-to-hell-with-it-anyway" philosophy that was helpful in the recent years when the penalty and privilege of being young was to face death and danger in foreign lands.

But this surface cynicism seems strangely unnatural now in these days of semi-peace, particularly in young married men with their real careers just beginning.

"I'm not complaining," Tom said. "I've got a good job and make a fair living. But what will it all lead to?"

I didn't answer. I have learned that when ex-soldiers talk that way they are only trying to talk back into themselves something they lost on the battlefields—a sense of security, a feeling that things will be well. And that takes time.

"What use is there now in saving money?" Tom went on. "Maybe it was a good thing for my father or my grandfather. But why should I? Nobody learned anything from this war. There'll be another war."

His wife came out just in time to hear his last remark.

"Okay, sourpuss," she said. "There'll be another war. So what?"

"So money won't be any good... nothing'll be any good," said Tom. "We'll all be atomized."

"Well, we might as well see one last movie first," said his wife cheerfully. As Tom got up to put on his coat, still growling "I still say there's no future," his baby woke up in the next room and began to cry.

"Oh, darn," said his wife. "I'd better give him a bottle before we leave."

While it was warming, Tom went in brought out the baby. He yawned and rubbed his eyes, gave us all a startled look and then began crowing happily. This baby is crazy about company.

Tom held him while the wife fed him. Then the baby began to kick vigorously.

"I wish he wants to walk already," said Tom.

"At six months, silly?" laughed his wife.

"Well, he does. Look."

He held the baby close to the floor. Electric with pleasure, the baby paddled at the rug with both feet.

"Look, look!" cried Tom. "He's practically walking at six months!"

"Then the young man who didn't believe in the future played with the baby for the first time. He walked him back again. They both held him and laughed.

"Oh, Tom," she said. "It's getting late. Let's don't go out."

"Okay."

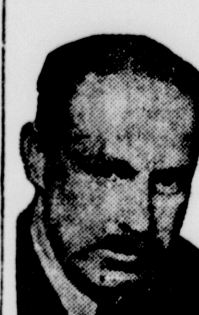

So we all staved home and let the baby entertain us. And nobody said another word about war.

We live, in fact, in a much more complicated world than Mr. Wallace seems to understand.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. — Henry Wallace's thumping victory in the Bronx, hitherto a sure-shot stronghold of the Democratic party, has put a cold and clammy hand on the November hopes of Democratic leaders.

Pearson

Also, it has brought to the boiling point all the inner-Democratic bitterness against one Harry Truman, and for the first time caused certain Democratic leaders to decide that it was about time to look around for another 1948 candidate.

Hitherto, Democratic leaders have merely been content to complain under their breath about Truman. Even such staunch, true-blue leaders as Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky and ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn have been sour.

But now, it being quite apparent that Henry Wallace can steal votes even out from under the nose of their versatile veteran, Ed Flynn, long boss of the Bronx, the Democrats are beginning to figure that there's no use putting their money on a losing horse.

In other words, some of the realistic leaders are figuring that since they can't win with Truman, they had better get someone who can.

To disavow the leader of their party at a time when he's also president of the United States, to some Democrats is like preaching atheism in the presence of the pope. Not only isn't it done, but it's risky. It means that you lose patronage plums, get in Dutch with other party leaders, are called an ingrate.

On the other hand, more courageous Democrats figure that it's better to get a new captain, even if it means mutiny, rather than continue allegiance to a captain who's hell-bent on running the party ship on a reef.

BACKSTAGE AT JEFFERSON DINNER
All of this was the subject of intense backstage discussion during the Jefferson Day dinner.

Helping to spark the discussion was a dynamite-laden column contributed by Old Curmudgeon Harold Ickes, pointing out something many people had forgotten—that it's the exception rather than the rule for vice presidents to be re-elected.

Out of six vice presidents who became presidents of the United States, only two succeeded themselves — Calvin Coolidge and Teddy Roosevelt.

Four others were thrown out by their parties as unsuited to hold office further. Vice President John Tyler, who became president on the death of Henry Harrison, was discarded by the Democrats. Millard Fillmore, who entered the White House on the death of Zachary Taylor, proved to be a flop and was not renominated by the Whigs. Andrew Johnson, who succeeded Lincoln, was almost thrown out before the end of his term, while Chester Arthur, who too kover after Garfield's assassination, was denied the Republican nomination to succeed himself.

In other words, American historical precedent has recognized the fact that the vice president of the United States is usually a political accident and has treated him as such when it came to new nominations to the non-accidental job of president.

PATCHWORK-QUILT PARTY
Other gossip going the rounds of Democratic leaders sounds like this:

"Let's be frank and admit that the present Democratic coalition is a patchwork-quilt, kept together by hairpins and baling wire. But it has to stay together in order to win."

"In 1912 it won with Woodrow Wilson only because there was a split between Taft and the Teddy Roosevelt Bull Moosers. In 1916 Woodrow Wilson squeaked through again only by the skin of his teeth. Then the Democrats fell apart—the Al Smith northerners vs. the McAdoo southerners—until 1932."

"And in 1932 it took a major depression and an inept Republican to put a Democrat back in the White House, after which it took the strong personality and leadership of Franklin Roosevelt to keep us there."

"That strong personality is now gone. And we're going to have to get a new strong personality back at the helm if we are going to win in 1948."

KAISER FOR PRESIDENT

One net result of these discussions is a move to run Henry Kaiser, the big west coast shipbuilder, in the Democratic primaries in California, probably also in Oregon and Washington. Kaiser, an independent businessman who has fought the big monopolies, would be a new, fresh face on the political scene, and the American people are getting awfully tired of old political faces.

If Kaiser can take delegates away from Truman in the trial heats on the west coast, then the myth about renominating the little man already in the White House will be pricked for good.

Senator Homer Ferguson has been striking pay dirt in closed-door hearings on Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and his broker-crony speculators. ## JIM FOLSOM ODD CHARACTER

Governor Of Alabama
Resembles Long
And Bilbo

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
Birmingham, Ala.—There is a curious fascination, in my trade, about sitting in on the raw beginnings of dramatic people, and I include young Gov. Jim Folsom of Alabama in that category. Folsom, momentarily, outranks the weather and the peridy of Harry Truman as a conversational topic in these parts.

Last year, when that ridiculous multiplicity of governors was occurring in Georgia, a loyal Folsom constituent remarked to a Georgia neighbor: "Why, suh, our governor is bigger than both yo' governors," which is not a bad appraisal of big Jim, who stands six foot eight with his toes uncramped by shoes.

He is warily regarded, at the moment, as a young giant, immensely thewed but still tractable, still amenable to a pat on the head, but always carrying the potential for going rogue and smashing things. Just how big Jim will wind up scares the thinkers, because Folsom already has all the equipment to turn sinister in the worst tradition.

Hires His Relatives
Folsom is a relatively uneducated man, with an odd set of political morals, as well as a free-wheeling collection of personal ones. He sees, for instance, nothing wrong in packing the state payrolls with his relatives, he has been either unwilling or unable to deliver the majority of his campaign promises seemingly without diminishing his popularity with the peckwoods and grass rooters who put him in. They purely love big Jim.

His background for political eminence is practically nil. He was once an insurance man, peddling cheap policies as a means of sewing up the backwoods vote. He was a White House policeman—and he quit the special force to return and run against the congressman who got the job.

He has surrounded himself largely with a slew of nonentities, whom he neither trusts nor confides in—but some of his best advice is supposed to come from Aubrey Williams, the old pink-tinted director of FDR's National Youth Administration.

At the same time that he is crying down the state department, and the "backslid" Democratic party, Folsom is preaching some hoary Henry Wallace doctrines. He has already equipped himself with a private newspaper, the money for which comes from no easily identifiable source. It is called "Folsom's Forum," and is a sort of Volkischer Beobachter of the piny woods.

Hoberg Mill Not Worried Over Cut In Canadian Wood

Green Bay, Wis.—"No cause for worry," was the comment by J. M. Conway, president and general manager of Hoberg Paper Mills when questioned concerning the recent announcement by the Canadian government of its curtailment of shipments of pulpwood to the United States. He agreed that the Canadian ban on exports of spruce, balsam and jack pine which were effective Jan. 1 will have a far reaching effect especially on paper mills in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, but because Hoberg Paper Mills uses poplar in great quantities the company will not experience any difficulties.

The plan of curtailment is such that over a period of the next three years an annual reduction in shipments will take effect with a complete elimination of shipments of the three kinds of pulpwood at the end of 1950.

Conway commented that the curtailment comes as no surprise. The company anticipated such action several years ago and gave it consideration in planning extensive use of short fiber pulpwood such as poplar. "Fortunately our plant has for a number of years used poplar and today is using this short fiber wood to the extent of about sixty per cent in manufacturing our products," Conway said. "It is believed that this can be increased to seventy-five per cent and still maintain high quality as well as enabling us to keep the sulphite mill operating full time on poplar. The other twenty-five per cent will be devoted to domestic pulpwood sold on the open market and substitutes of long fiber pulp which we occasionally buy on the outside."

Seniors Sleighride Party
Rapid River, Mich.—Last week the seniors of the high school decided they'd have a sleighride party. Of course to get a team of horses was out of the question, so they settled for a tractor. The next question was where to get a sleigh with a short pole suitable for a tractor to pull. After considerable skirmishing around, they located a sleigh that would serve their purpose at the Gust Roberts farm in Whitefish. Edward Peacock got the tractor, so with the sleigh hitched on behind, they started. They drove on country roads north of town, going through and beyond the "German" settlement. After the ride they returned to the gym where they had hot coffee and lunch. All reported a glorious time. Those attending were: Bob Short,

Gold and Fizzdale Duo-Piano
Concert Marks Highlight In Town Hall Music Season

Arthur Gold and Robert Fizzdale revealed themselves masters in duo-piano artistry and a highlight of the Town Hall music season with a thoroughly enjoyable concert in William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium Saturday night.

Secured through the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce Town Hall committee, the artists presented music of the old masters and of contemporary composers, with an interpretation rich in emotional texture, and proficiency on the keyboard.

Whether playing the Sonata in D Major (K448) by Mozart, with which the artists opened their program, or the gay, brilliant impressionistic works of later composers, Gold and Fizzdale gave the same exacting attention to meaning and technical delivery.

The duo-pianists were adroit in showmanship on the concert stage and showed marked concern for their listeners. New works were introduced with a preface by Robert Fizzdale, who explained the meaning, if any, to the music and gave a few notes concerning the composer and the music itself.

The "Carnival in New Orleans," composed for the duo-pianists, by Auriel Milhaud, was perhaps the most interesting on the program, although all compositions found rapport with the audience. It is a suite in four movements, entitled "Mardi Gras," "Creole," "Society Waltz," and "Street Dance." The music, derived from folk material of Louisiana, was light and enjoyable.

The first portion of the four-part program consisted of the Mozartian sonata and the second Variations on a theme of Beethoven, by Saint-Saens. Great depth of feeling and artistic interpretation enhanced these familiar compositions and afforded the artists ample opportunity to indicate their virtuosity.

Besides the Milhaud music, Gold and Fizzdale offered a selection, based on Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," from the Debussy two-piano suite, "En Blanc et Noir."

In a lighter vein but in the same high calibre of concertizing were Diniou-Heifetz' Hora Staccato, Saturday Night Waltz and Hoedown, by Aaron Copland, Virgil Thompson's Walking Stick and Ritual Dance of Fire by DeFalla.

As encores the duo-pianists presented the Russian Dance from Stravinsky's Petrouchka, Flight of the Bumblebee, Sentimental Waltz by Tchaikowsky, and the Brazilian composition, Playing Tag. If the audience could have had its way, there would have been more.

The extra piano needed for the concert was loaned by Dr. Louis P. Gross.

Other numbers on the Town Hall program for this year are the Farman Sinfonietta, May 6, and The Orpheus concert, March 21. Tickets may be secured at Gust Asp, Home Supply, Household Electric and Tommy's Lunch.

Celebrates 84th
Birthday in Utah

Mrs. George Theobald, of 309 North 20th street, Escanaba, who is visiting in Price, Utah, at the home of her son, J. A. Theobald, celebrated her 84th birthday anniversary, Sunday, February 22.

A reception was held Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the Theobald home, during which fifty friends called to extend their congratulations, and a birthday dinner, for immediate family members and a few close friends was served following the reception. Mrs. Theobald received many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Theobald was born in the Copper Country. Her family includes three daughters, Mrs. George Pearson and Mrs. H. Sanderson of Detroit, and Mrs. Genevieve Beauchamp, with whom she makes her home in Escanaba, and who is in Price with her, and one son, Mr. Theobald, who is secretary of the Price Chamber of Commerce.

When bad weather keeps the children indoors, a simple cooking lesson will help pass the time. Even a very young child can frost graham crackers, for instance, with a new packaged instant frosting. All that's needed to put a tempting coat of vanilla, chocolate or strawberry on the cracker is a package of the prepared mix stirred into hot tap water.

Much Good Talent Is Revealed In Local Ice
Show Sunday Afternoon

Manistique's first strictly home talent ice show was held at the Quarry Rink here Sunday afternoon before an estimated crowd of seven hundred people.

Beautiful weather, with ice in perfect condition, helped to make the effort a decided success. While not promising anything glamorous nor intimating that the youthful skaters would perform with anything approximating professional finesse, the afternoon's program was replete with pleasant surprises, indicating that the time and effort given by the instructors, Reynold Anderson and Earl LeBrasseur, had borne fruit. Particularly pleasing was the figure skating of Dorothy Selling, Sandra White and Shirley Monette.

MASONS ENJOY
ANNIVERSARYAddress By Marquette
Man Highlights
Annual Fete

Masonry and the part it played in the founding of this country was the dominant theme of an address delivered by Ernest Pearce, of Marquette at the annual George Washington party at the Masonic hall Saturday evening.

Mr. Pearce, a 33 degree Mason and as authority on the history of the order gave an interesting account of George Washington's Masonic affiliations and the close contacts he enjoyed in fellowship in the order with such men as Franklin, Jefferson, and LaFayette. Choosing the theme "More Light In Masonry," he explained certain highlights in the history of speculative Masonry and how the order in its modern sense came into being. This order, he emphasized is not a religion, but its ritual, founded on the Bible, emphasizes many moral virtues that are stressed in Christian teachings, particularly the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man.

The Masonic order has a membership of over three million in America at present, he said.

Other numbers on the program were a reading by Mrs. Alex Robertson, three vocal solos by Miss Margaret Burgess and music by a violin trio composed of Rev. Paul Sobel, Carl Olson and Norman Martin.

The activities started with a 6:30 dinner served by a committee of members of the Order of Eastern Star.

About 150 people were present, members of the Order of Eastern Star being also present.

CHURCH ORGAN
IS DEDICATEDPresentation Formally
Made By Brother
Of Donor

"Take your church programs home today to show, in years to come to your children and to your grandchildren, because this church is making history today," the Rev. G. A. Herbert, pastor of Zion Lutheran church told his congregation Sunday morning, the occasion of special moment being the dedication of a new two manual pipe organ, made possible through a bequest of the late Lillie A. Carlson.

Dedication of the organ came at the close of the services, the presentation being made by J. Mauritz Carlson, brother of the donor, who gave it to the church as a memorial to his and his sister's parents, the late John O. and Anna Carlson. Pastor Herbert accepted the gift on behalf of the congregation and dedication was proclaimed by the Rev. T. E. Johnstone, of Ironwood, president of the Superior Conference of Augustana Synod Lutheran churches.

Miss Carlson, who had been an active worker in the church up to the time of her death, passed away on February 22—just a year ago—and the choir dedicated its morning anthem "My God and I," to her memory. The choir presented another number "Gloria," by Mozart, immediately before the dedication ceremony.

Rev. Johnstone delivered the morning sermon—a theme in keeping with the second Sunday in Lent, using the text: "Lord I believe, Help thou mine unbelief."

Announcer—John Kelly.

Munising News

Frank Greenwood, Former Munising Resident, Dies

Munising, Mich.—The many friends in Munising of Frank E. Greenwood will regret to hear of his death on Feb. 2 at the home of his son, Jack E. Greenwood, 203 Mataoka road, Richmond, Va., where he had been living since his retirement from the Munising Paper Company in 1940.

Mr. Greenwood was born in Deerfield, Mass. on March 17, 1872 and was a son of Edward and Sarah Greenwood.

During Mr. Greenwood's long career in the paper industry as a mechanical engineer and a chemical engineer, he was associated with many pioneering developments in this country and in England and was twice connected with the local Paper Company. Back in 1902 and 1903, while he was a member of the consulting engineering firm of Joseph A. Wallace Mr. Greenwood had charge of the design and construction of the original power plant at the paper mill when the city was in its infancy. He later came to Munising in 1930 as research engineer and stayed until his retirement in 1940. During that decade, he played a key part in the developments that have made the local company a leader in the field of specialty manufacturing.

While Mr. Greenwood was with the firm of Joseph A. Wallace, he helped design and construct a large mill in England and, while engaged in this work, the firm promoted and built, with English capital, the first major kraft mill in the Southern United States at Moss Point, Miss. This mill at Moss Point was the first of a series of southern kraft mills, utilizing southern pine wood, that have mushroomed so phenomenally in recent years and have contributed in a large way to southern industrial development. About half of the nation's woodpulp is now produced in the south. Mr. Greenwood helped design and construct the kraft mill at Ontonagon, Michigan. During World War I, the Wallace research laboratory in Connecticut was retained by the War Department to develop a nitrating pulp suitable for the manufacture of high explosives from southern pine kraft pulp. While engaged in this work, Mr. Greenwood was probably the first to demonstrate a practical and inexpensive commercial method of direct chlorination of kraft pulp as a step in the purification and bleaching process. Direct chlorination is now the basic method by which kraft pulps are bleached and purified both in this country and abroad. In addition to his other accomplishments, Mr. Greenwood joined the ranks of conservationists by his development of a method of harvesting southern pine stumps, extracting the pitch and turpentine and later using the chips to make into paper products. His work in this connection is frequently cited by present-day wood utilizationists. He won recognition in the field of physics through his work in the field of color analysis and was an accomplished amateur photographer and astronomer.

Mr. Greenwood was well known throughout the paper industry and won many friends in Munising during his residence here.

Garden, Mich.—Walter William McNally, third son of Mrs. Katherine McNally, has just received recognition in a Presidential Unit citation for harrowing experiences while serving in the Pacific theater as barber in ship's service. The citation reads: The President of the United States takes pleasure in presenting the Presidential Unit Citation to the U. S. S. Lunga Point and her attached Air Squadrons for service as set forth in the following:

For extraordinary heroism in acting against enemy Japanese forces in the air, ashore and afloat. Operating in the most advanced areas the U. S. S. Lunga Point and her attached squadrons penetrated enemy controlled waters to destroy hostile warships, aircraft, merchant shipping and shore installations, despite frequent, and sustained enemy air attack. Fighting her guns effectively against repeated kamikaze attacks, destroying five suicide planes by her own gunfire and assisting the screen in the destruction of two others. Her air groups furnished powerful fire support for our landing operations and land offensives and provided aerial photographic coverage of enemy installations, beaches and waterways. Operating as a highly disciplined and superbly coordinated team, the Lunga Point, her officers and men, achieved a notable record of excellent performance in combat, which reflects the highest credit upon the U. S. Naval service.

For the President, J. L. Sullivan

Secretary of the Navy

The citation covered six lengthy operations over a nine month period of nerve-racking action. Accompanying it was a ribbon bar with a star.

Walter served in the Navy for four years, lacking a few days and since discharge, has taken a course in barbering in Detroit. He is operating at present at the Aldous barber shop.

Bark River-Harris Five Bows In D-E Finals By 33-15 Count

Stephenson, Feb. 23 (Special)—Gladstone and Rock high school reserve basketball teams are the 1948 champions of the annual Stephenson reserves' tournament, which was concluded here Saturday night.

The Gladstone Bees, who have had a bangup season, rang up a 39-20 victory over a hard-fighting band of Escanaba Eskymo jayvees to win the B-C title, and Rock annexed the D-E championship with a 33-15 triumph over Bark-River-Harris reserves in the finals.

Creten was the chief thorn in Escanaba's side Saturday night. He banged in nine field goals, no less, and added two free throws for a high scoring tally of 20 points. The Eskymos succeeded in holding Larry LaPlante to one field, but this only gave Crten an opportunity to go to town.

Anderson again led the Eskymos, tallying eight points. Escanaba held Gladstone to 7-7 at the first quarter but the Braves went into a 16-10 halftime lead and stretched it to 28-13 going into the last quarter.

Thirteen Rock players saw action. Ray Moen topped the scorers with five field goals. Rock led 20-5 at halftime and was never in trouble.

ISHPEMING HILL RECORD BROKEN

Belfry, Alexander Are 10th, 11th In Class B Jumping

Ishpeming, Feb. 23 (Special)—Joe Perrault, Ishpeming stylist who placed 15th in the Winter Olympics, captured the annual Ishpeming ski tournament championship in Class A here yesterday with leaps of 231 and 250 feet, but 17-year-old Wilbert Rasmussen, Negaunee, stole the limelight by jumping 253 feet to break the hill record of 250 feet he set in 1946.

He paired that effort with a 231-foot to top Class C, edging out David Freeman, of Iron Mountain, his season's rival, who jumped 216 and 226. Class B was won by Clarence Rasmussen, Ishpeming, with 217 and 230.

Perrault's 250-foot jump was nearly flawless. It clinched Class A honors for the popular little Frenchman. Walt Bietila, Iron Mountain, placed second with 238 and 239, although both his jumps were behind those of Eugene Will, who placed third, Ralph Bietila, Ishpeming, hit 234 and 248 for fourth. Clarence Hill, Ishpeming, hit 224 and 244 for fifth.

Ted Belfry led Escanaba Ski club jumpers by placing tenth in a field of 81 in Class B with leaps of 196 and 202. Walter Alexander finished eleventh with 191 and 198. John Grosdesky was fifteenth with two leaps of 191 each and Ed Morrison wound up seventeenth with leaps of 179 and 194.

ST. JOE STOPS HARRIS, 52-33

Miron, Gleich Show Way As Trojans Chalk Up 10th Win

The St. Joseph's parochial school Trojans chalked up their tenth victory of the season here Saturday night, a triumph that has eluded them in three successive games against Lourdes of Marinette, Stephenson and Munising. They turned the trick in the William Bonifas gym at the expense of the Bark River-Harris quintet. The final tally was 52-33.

As a result, the Trojans' record for the season to date now stands at 10 triumphs and eight defeats. They wind up the regular schedule against St. Paul's in Neenah next Friday night and then will concentrate on district tournament play, getting underway March 3.

Jack Miron and Gerald Gleich were the big guns in the attack for St. Joe, scoring 14 and 11 points, respectively. Ed Hennicksen and Ozzie Viau each bagged eight points and Ray Menard contributed six points to the game-winning tally.

Vernon and Jim Good topped the Harris five with 15 and 11 points, respectively. St. Joe held only a slim 20-15 lead at halftime but ran wild in the third quarter to outscore the Harris five, 21-5.

In the preliminary the St. Joe seventh and eighth graders defeated Harris seventh and eighth graders, 45-13.

Gold Medal Meet Opens March 15 In Hermansville

Hermansville, Feb. 23—The tenth annual Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin Gold Medal amateur basketball tournament will be held at the Hermansville Community club March 16-21, inclusive. Entry blanks have been sent out.

This classic is regarded as the best meet of its kind in the peninsula. It was won last year by the Bark River Tom Swifts, who this season are playing as the Delta Hardwares of Escanaba in the Northern Wisconsin-Michigan Basketball league.

The Munising Cox Chevs won Class B honors last year.

Bob Ranguette, Escanaba's standout, last year was named the outstanding player of the tournament and was given all-American recognition by the Central States all-tourney selection board.

Michigan high school accredited officials will be in charge of all games.

State Bank, Oberg To Fight For Third In City Cage Loop

Tonight's city basketball program features a struggle for third place in the American league between State Bank and Oberg's Service. The loser, incidentally, will be virtually eliminated from championship consideration. Each team has dropped four contests and another defeat would be disastrous. This attraction begins at 8.

The Bankers will use Mickey Kuehnberg and Louie Kositzke at forward, Don Ohman at center, and Jack Beck and Don Duresne at guard. In reserve will be Bill Smith, Keith Morin, Lawrence Kidd, and Lawrence Erickson.

Oberg's will start Warren Fisher and Franny Pryal at forward, Jim Kesler at center, and Phil Brazeau and Dale Heidenreich at guard. Also ready for action will be Tom Elgreet, Leroy Baker, and Stan Abrahamson.

The Oberg's-State Bank clash will be preceded by a game between Cloverland College and the K. of C. at 7.

The finale brings together Bridges and Harnischfeger at 9 with Bridges entering the game in the favorite's role, but anything can happen and often does, in the city league, especially the National loop.

IS EDUCATION FALLING DOWN?

Morons Gaining Control Of Society, Says Prof. Hart

"We have to choose and choose quickly between two sorts of education," said Professor Charles Hart of the Universities of Toronto and Wisconsin, speaking at a student conference held by the Central Michigan College of Education at Mount Pleasant, Michigan.

"One is the kind of education presented by college and universities, the other is the type presented by Hollywood, the radio, newspaper columnists and the comic strips. The college type of education is sound, mentally healthy, mature, and dull, the movie-radio-newspaper type is immature, childish, escapist, and attractive."

"Teaching the whole population to read may have been a great mistake," he said, "if all they are going to read is Pravda in Russia and Superman and the Chicago Tribune in the Middle West."

Blames Educated Classes

Hart, who was chief speaker at the conference, held on the theme "Is Education Failing?" suggested that the chief fault lay with the educated classes. They have come by their education too easily, he claimed, and hence fail to value it. Because they see no more value in a course in Shakespeare than in a course in book-keeping, they have no judgment on wider issues, being unable to tell sense from nonsense, or truth from a publicity build-up.

There was a time, the speaker went on, when if you had a college degree you could get away with murder in the Middle Ages an educated man was too valuable to be pushed around. So many of the laws were suspended for a college graduate. Nowadays the quickest way to get yourself into trouble is to have a college degree, unless you keep your mouth shut and have no opinions on anything.

"Somehow or other we have allowed our democracy to confuse equality with ignorance, freedom with conformity, and learning with gossip. People who have never heard of Plato are regular readers of Dorothy Dix, and people who think Benjamin Franklin was a Communist regard Walter Winchell as a prophet."

Morons Gaining Control

As the only possible remedy Hart called for a revolt of the downtrodden college graduates. The morons are gaining control of our society, he suggested, because the non-morons have retired from the world. They have not retired into the deserts like the early Christian fathers, but into the book of the month clubs, the music-appreciation clubs, and the football and baseball fan clubs. Until they come out of these escape-holes and assert their right to live in a more mature society, run on more realistic lines, the situation will go from bad to worse.

In conclusion he suggested that the taxpayers have a right to expect leadership from the college products and should refuse to support the colleges if the graduates merely used a college education to escape their responsibilities as citizens and retire into dull conformity to mass opinion or, in the case of women, into respectable domesticity. The great educational problem of the time is not to crowd more people into colleges but to find ways of ensuring that the educated classes shall do what educated classes have always done, that is, give leadership and intelligent guidance to the public opinion of their communities and their nation.

Dr. Hart spoke at three general forums during the day and will speak again this evening in the college auditorium. Another series of forums are scheduled for Tuesday. The conference is sponsored by a student, faculty committee and is an annual campus event.

Red Wings Clinch Playoff Spot With Win Over Canadiens

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings were mathematically assured today of a spot in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

Protecting their half share of first place, the Wings clinched a playoff berth with last night's 4-3 victory over the Montreal Canadiens in which Leo Reise played the big part.

Reise, who participated in all of Detroit's first three goals, played under the burden of knowing that his wife was in a Windsor, Ont., hospital seriously injured.

Over the weekend while Reise was in Toronto his wife, 24, and infant son, Leo, Jr., were hurt in an automobile smashup in Canada. Mrs. Reise suffered a fractured pelvis. Leo, Jr., six months old, escaped with minor hurts.

Charley Fonville Within 2 Inches of World Shot Mark

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—The world's outdoor shooting record was threatened today as Charley Fonville, whose Michigan mates lost the dual track meet to Ohio State here Saturday, returned to the practice pit.

The Wolverine's shot star tumbled in a superb performance as Lloyd Duff led the Buckeyes to a 60½ to 53½ victory.

Fonville hurled the shot to within 2 ¾ inches of the 57 foot, one inch world mark established by Louisiana State's Jack Torrance.

After a warmup heave of 52 feet, nine inches, the powerful Michigan weight star got off a 56-foot, 10½ inch toss, which shattered the American indoor mark. Fonville set that mark, 56 feet, 6½ inches, at the Michigan State relays Feb. 7.

The fete added to Fonville's stature as America's foremost candidate for the summer Olympic games.

CLARK AT NEBRASKA

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—George (Potsy) Clark, 53-year-old veteran of a dozen coaching assignments with college, professional and service football teams, is going back to the University of Nebraska as head coach of the Cornhuskers. ### CLAIM SWIM MARK

Ann Arbor, Feb. 23 (AP)—A new world's record was claimed today for Michigan's 300-yard-medley relay team, which sparked the Wolverines to a 56-28 swimming victory over Iowa Saturday.

The new mark, 2:49.1, was hung up by the team of Harry Holiday, backstroke; Bob Sohl, breaststroke; and Dick Weinberg, free style. That performance clipped one minute, four tenths of a second off the old mark, which was set by the same trio.

Moving Hillside Pushes Highway; One Home Wrecked

Caldwell, O., Feb. 23 (AP)—A moving hillside continued today to push State Route 21 toward Duck creek near the Noble-Washington county line.

The state highway patrol directed one-way traffic over 200 yards of the highway, some of which has been raised 12 to 48 inches by the moving earth.

The patrolmen said the home of Earl McAtee has been twisted from its foundation, is tilted and appears doomed, and that the Edwin Mincks home and the Double C garage also are endangered. All have been evacuated.

Movement of the hillside, the crest of which is being strip-mined, became evident last week after thawing weather. Observers say the movement is not apparent to the eye.

The 12-acre area affected is on the farm of E. E. Jeffers, and the strip mine on the hill is operated by Testa Bros. of Cleveland.

DETROIT GANG IS QUIZZED IN MURDER PLOT

derworld tips suggesting a plot against Harry Fleisher and Pete Mahoney, both long-known police figures here and now free on bond appealing from a robbery conviction.

The investigation involved police rackets. Five men have since been released.

Still in custody were Ben Griesman, Detroit bar proprietor; his brother-in-law, Max Stern, and Joseph Giordano of Youngstown, Ohio, and Arthur Delsanter of Cleveland.

Attorneys were seeking their release on writs of habeas corpus, returnable tomorrow in recorder's court.

The fur jackets, with labels missing, were in a suitcase given to Griesman and Stern after they had met Giordano and Delsanter upon the latter pair's arrival by plane here from Cleveland, Mahoney said.
